Our Vision for a Sustainable Future

At The Hennegan Company, environmental stewardship is part of our heritage and a responsibility we bear for future generations. We pursue sustainability within our facility and in our greater community – and are recognized as a leader in environmentally responsible operations, often exceeding regulatory standards and government requirements.

Adopting sustainability as a priority demands that we make wise choices about the materials and processes we use. As a printer, we must evaluate chemicals used for printing work in terms of air emissions and disposal of chemical waste. In recent years, we have substantially reduced the VOC content of inks, coatings and solutions and invested in equipment to capture and recycle virtually all VOC emissions from web press operations, with the result that air emissions have been reduced by 80% of prior levels.

By selecting papers that have been certified by the Rainforest Alliance's SmartWood program, and for meeting the strict standards of the Forest Stewardship Council (FSC), we are committed to contributing to responsible forest management and sound practices.

Sustainability is not simply a subject or a discrete program within The Hennegan Company.

It is at the core of what we believe a business can bring to society and the world.

In addition, we've also taken major steps to reduce waste from printing operations with a comprehensive program to recycle ink, wash solvents and paper. The implementation of new technologies and processes has also allowed us to more efficiently use natural gas, electricity and water.

Today, sustainability stands as one of our core values. We believe that sustainable practices and the highest standards of printing are not mutually exclusive ends, but are each elements of our business ethic. We win renown regularly for unsurpassed printing excellence. Further, we've earned the respect of our customers, employees, partners and stakeholders by continuing to set and achieve new goals for protecting the resources on which our business depends. Our EHS Director has primary responsibility for measuring and monitoring our progress, but ultimately, it is our goal to influence attitudes and actions company-wide.

The Hennegan Company is committed to keeping the environment clean and safe, while enhancing value offered to our customers.
